In April, 1880, one (1) was retired. In July, 1881, one (1) was retired, making a total of said bonds redsemed of $12,500, leaving a balance out standing against the county of $37,-

Those bonds are now, and have been since is ued, drawing 8 per cent interest. There is doubtless some amount of coupons outs anding on this liability, and whatever amount there , I wish to call your attention to the fact that all of those bonds fall due July 1st, 1887, and it is your duty to look to the redemption or funding of those bonds. Should you determine to fund those bonds, I call your attention to the law prohibiting you from doing so unless by special act of the Legislature.

I am decidedly of the opinion, and so s ate that I believe that it would be impolite to fund those bonds from the fact that it will require legis'ation and the amount being small, I would suggest and recommend to the courthat if a levy of 10 cents is made for 1887 that I will assume to say and guarantee with the available fundnow on hand, and the amount to be derived from back taxes until they are due, that every bond will be redeemed on presentation. Should you determine to provide for the redemption of those bonds, it will be a period in the history of this county and of this court that you should feel proud of.

I hope that you will not think that am premature in bringing before you this question. I only do so from the fact that should you determine to fund those tonds, to enable you to secure such legislation as will be necessary to enable you to do so.

COUNTY BONDS.
In 1885 the county lesued $60,000 in bonds for the purpose of liquidating judgments and outstanding warrants against the county. Those bonds fall due from 1890 to 1910. We pay an annual interest on those bonds of $3600, which is provided for in our annual levies.

our bonded indebtedness that I feel it my duty to call your attention to, but as they are connected with our annual levies the January term of this court would be the most appropriate time.

I learn that the accommodations

furnished the grand jury in the way of room is wholly inadequate for their comfort and the transaction of their legitimate business. I would most respectfully su gest to the court for your consideration the propriety of allowing the grand jury the room now occupied by this court, and that this court use the Law Library room as a room for this court. I have recently conferred with some of the directors of that association, and find that they are willing that this court should occupy that room, provided they can have the use of the room on the third floor formerly assigned to the United States

Feeling the great responsibilities of the position you have assigned me, and knowing that the eyes of an inand knowing that the eyes of an interested public are looking to me for a faithful discharge of the many onerous duties of this office, I cannot close this report without asking your indulgence, and I might say pardon, for making the suggestions that I have, assuring you that they are based alone from an expressional standarding I can only responded standpoint. I can only present them to you for your consideration. It is for you to determine the feasibility or value of any sugges-tions I have made. Respectfully, D. C. SLAUGHIER, Chairman.

Mr. A. J. Knapp, general passenger agent of the Mississippi and Tennessee railread, has issued a circular aunouncing the specintment of J. A. Sangston as general traveling pa sen-ger agent, and John T. Hines local pasenger agent of the Mississippi and

Southwestern Passenger Business. teday. CHICAGO, ILL, October 4.- The proposed plan for forming a gross money pool of Southwestern passenger business, which has absorbed the attention of the magnates of Southwestern roads throughout the past week, has fallen through, and now the successful organization of a pool is practically as far away as ever. It required four days to bring about an agreement on the first section of the proposed plan. The vexations point was finally setted by a compromise, and yesterday the meeting proceeded with the con-sideration of the rest of the p'an. The percentage clause was pointed out in advance as the rook on which negotiations would go to pieces, and so it proved. A long and fruitless discus-sion followed the reading of the per-centage clause. The Wabsah road moved to submit the question to arbitration. The Chicago and Alton has always been opposed to this method of sattling the recentage question, and was prompt in entering its protest. Vice President McMullin said that he was instructed by his company to say that the Allon would not enter any pooling arrangement for a period of more than one year. This was a thunderbolt, inasmuch as the expectation was that if a pool was formed it would be for a period of at leat three years. The Alton's representative was requested to reiterate his sta'ement, which he did without hesitation, and deliberations on the proposed plan ceased in-stanter. Before separating, however, the managers talked over the fras bility of drawing up a plan on the one ear basis, and a committee was ap-

The reputation of eating howes on Southern railroads has never been good, but many of the lines now say especial attention to this import of feature, and a change is taking place for the better. Advice to Mothers. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhosa, whether arising from teething or other causes. AMUSEMENTS.

Barnum's Great Show.

That P. T. Barnum, the father of the rcos profession, has kept faith with bis friends of former years is a fact positive and beyond a postulate. His entree in the South with bis great and undivided aggregation was an occasion long to be remembered in Mem-phis. Despite the rumors that the Barnum and London shows would separate when the Mason and Dixon line had been passed, the city was thronged with anxious merry makers from miles and miles around. Long before the glittering pageant filed through the principal thoroughfares the highways and byways were crowded and curbstone seats were at a premium. The procession, which, by the way, is the same that Mr. Barnum has always given as a prelude to his great show, was a pronounced success. There was a freshness and neatness in its make up which drew forth complimentary comments from all sides. attempt was made to "string out" the parade or force its time in passing a given point, dreds of chariots followed Hun-together, and hundreds of animals almost trod upon each others' heels. A good deal of word painting is always engaged in to describe the free procession of circuses, but Barnum's advertisements in this respect are not overdrawn. How the show could be divided is a mystery to those who looked in wonder and admiration at the free street parade.

Under the canvas the same programme which thrilled and delighted he thousands upon thousands in the East and West was carried out to the letter. In the three to the letter. In the three great rings the entire world was represented—the best riders, the best vaulters and tumblers, the best traps ze performers, the two and four horse chariot races, the elephant, camel and monkey, jockey races and the flat, time, which is hurdle and steeple chases, the contor- Memphis time: tionists-nothing was omitted. took several hours to complete the immense programme, but all waited to witness the last act.

Lizzie Evans in "Sea Sands." Miss Evans opened her engagement here under rather inauspicious circomstances. The competition of a circus is something that few actors could successfully withstand, and it is a compliment of which Miss Evans may feel justly proud that she drew even so good a house as that assembled last night at the New Memphis Theater. Sea Sands is a rather poorly constructed play and in feebler hands than that of Miss Evans and her company would hardly deserve mention. Miss Evans, however, manages to infuse into it some of her own effervescent humor, and the result is a pleasing entertain ment. In many ways she reminds one of Latta, and of the numerous imitators of that sprightly act-ress she is probably the most successful, but she has merit of her Vicksburg....... 3 | 8 | 1 own of undoubted excellence, and there is a dash, a sparkle and a winsomeness about her that at once wing her a warm place in public favor. The comrany that surrounds Miss Evans is of average merit and evenly balanced, and their performance is on the whole satisfactory. Mr. Corey, the comedian, has a good voice and sings well. He has a tendency, however, to descend into coarse buffoonery which may injure him. His lingering on a certain sylla-ble in the ti-willow roug last night was decidedly vulgar. The audience were evidently highly pleased with the performance, and attested their appreciation by liberal laughter and applause. Sea Sands will be repeated

In referring to Sea Sands the Nashvi le American saya: "Miss Evans and her play are, in a word, very a tractive, and her presence last night is an omen of good promise for the su care of the season at this house. Her coatames are chic and dainty, and her cute ways captivate. This performance opens a list of specially fine atnerub tr c ions booked by Manager Milsom It is for the winter,"
